

Think about smoke-free

Editor:

My family and I have just returned from a wonderful trip to Wyoming.

My children were quick to point out not only the fabulous wildlife and beautiful scenery, but that people were smoking indoors. Choosing restaurants and gas stations was difficult as we wanted to patronize a smoke-free establishment and stay away from the bad health effects of second-hand smoke.

Wyoming should look into the benefits of being a smoke-free state – it is healthier for business, the citizens that live there and those that want to breathe clean mountain air indoors and out.

TAMMY ENGEL-MEYER,
Johnston, Iowa